PLEA TO THE PRESIDENT

Dear Mr President.

As a 12 year old living in South Africa and seeing people suffering in our country, my plea to the President is for every child to have the right to education and freedom.

The government should by all means provide good quality education and make it accessible to children who do not have the privilege of being in school.

Education is a basic human right and it is important for everyone. If we can all be granted some form of education, the country's economy will be uplifted drastically and crime in South Africa will eventually go down.

Having education helps people to have access to other basic rights and privileges. It improves an individual's chances in life and helps to tackle poverty. It also decreases social inequalities, and empowers women and children to start being recognized and taken into consideration and also helps them to reach their fullest potential. Education also brings significant economic returns for a country and helps societies to achieve lasting peace and sustainable development.

Education is the key to success. If all children can get education, an economic foundation for the country's future generations will be formed and our country will be well developed due to that.

PLEA TO THE PRESIDENT

Dear Mr. President

Many children go to bed without food every night and this hunger and malnutrition affects the mental and physical development of these children. My plea to the president is that there should be food security for children in our country. Poor families must be provided with food every day and there must be no hunger in our country.

How I suggest this can be done is by the government starting a feeding scheme program that deploys a group of people across every city in the country once or twice a week to send out food to poor families that will last them a week.

The program should be professional and the amount of families undergoing it and any new poor families joining it should be recorded as data to ensure that every family part of the program receive their food every week as scheduled.

This program should be well advertised and campaigned both digitally and non digitally. There should also be a team that reaches out to poor families because most poor families have no access to social media and therefore will not be a part of the feeding program due to not knowing anything about it and also for those who can't read.

My wish is that this program reaches every poor family / poor individuals within the next 10 years after its launch.

We can beat hunger Mr President.

Please consider this Sir thank you .

Kea.
